Patrolman Admits Slaying Of Mayor

SURRENDERS TO CHIEF AT LONG ISLAND RESORT

Reform Crusade Of Louis F. Edwards Ended By Attack

Long Beach, N. Y., Nov. 15.—(P)—Death in a fusillade of five gunshots today ended the anti-gambling crusade of Louis F. Edwards, 40, reform mayor of this seaside resort on the south shore of Long Island.

His bodyguard, Police Sergeant James Walsh, was perhaps fatally wounded before he could draw his gun.

A stray bullet also nipped the hand of a passing postman, Fred Schraeweler.

The shooting took place in front of the mayor's home as he was leaving for his office.

A few minutes later, a figure with bloodshot eyes lurched into the Long Beach police station, slammed a revolver on the desk and shouted:

"I killed the mayor!"

Father of Fear

The slayer, according to police, was Patrolman Alvin Dooley, 45, father of four children, who was recently demoted from the Long Beach motorcycle police squad and who was defeated last week by the wounded Sergeant Walsh in an election for president of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association.

Officials said Mayor Edwards supported Dooley for the post which Dooley formerly held.

Dooley was charged with homicide and taken to the jail at nearby Mineola as a crowd of 1,000 milled outside the local police station raising cries of "lynch him!"

An eye-witness, Frank Coombs, said he saw Dooley pull a half-empty bottle of liquor from his pocket as he walked away from the scene and heard him boast:

"Well, I did it."

The mayor, who was president of the Metropolitan Refinery Company in Long Island City, had virtually "cleaned up" this "little Atlantic City," which had a long history of scandal and corruption, slot-machines and other forms of gambling.

Overwhelmed the long-incumbent political machine forces in 1937, and the resort which once ranked among the most fashionable on Long Island had begun to take on a Coney Island appearance.

Last summer Mayor Edwards made headlines by forbidding men to appear on the boardwalk wearing suspenders and no coats—to discourage "hoodlums," he said.

Police Chief Edward J. Agnew said that while he was questioning Dooley, the alleged slayer became violent and shouted:

"I'd have killed you, too, if you'd been there."

City Councilman Theodore Ormslein, who happened into the police station just after Dooley surrendered, said Dooley knocked him down in what he described as a "maniacal" assault.

BRITISH LINER BOASTS BIT OF HUMOR IN WAR

San Pedro, Calif., Nov. 15.—(P)—Waiting to load pursuit planes, the British Furness liner Southern Prince has a drab gray exterior—relieved only by a possible bit of British humor.

All marks of identification, including her name and home port, are painted out, but there are three words on a plate affixed to her superstructure. Under the plate is a box which in its shape, might be a dog house.

Words on the plate are: "Reserved for Adolf."

BATTLE FOR LIFE

Girl, 8, Has Slim Chance
To Conquer Disease

Philadelphia, Nov. 15.—(P)—As officers of help crisscrossed the nation, arrangements were made tonight to speed to Philadelphia a Westport, Conn., woman regarded as most likely to be of aid to an eight-year-old girl critically ill of a blood disease.

The child, Kathryn Felt, is fighting for her life against lymphatic leukemia—an affliction which involves a breakdown of the body's blood-making machinery and for which physicians here say there is no cure. They pronounced the girl's case hopeless.

But in response to public appeals from the child's mother, Mrs. Charles Felt, more than 100 persons—some who apparently have recovered from the disease—volunteered to give transfusions and from the list Mrs. Joseph Root, Jr., of Westport was selected as the most likely candidate.

Hospital records show she was treated for lymphatic leukemia 15 years ago. Decision to accept her offer was made in the hope that—contrary to opinion of medical authorities—her blood might prove of some benefit. The child already has received 15 transfusions.

BETTING ROOMS CUT OFF FROM RACING SERVICE

Bookies Are Seeking Substitute; Many Plans Proposed

Chicago, Nov. 15.—(P)—Bookmakers in all sections of the nation were cut off from the racing network tonight.

The personnel of the Nationwide News Service, which for years has transmitted race entries, odds, running accounts, results and payoff figures from tracks to thousands of betting rooms, was instructed to cease operations after the final flash on the final race of the day had been dispatched over the far-flung wires of the system.

Abandonment of the business was ordered by Annenberg, dominant figure in the turf information empire, because of government opposition.

Hammond Chaffetz, one of its attorneys, reported officials of the concern had been told to stop sending racing data at the close of the day's operations and that the Western Union and the American Telephone and Telegraph company had been notified that their facilities would not be needed after tomorrow noon.

He estimated that not more than 500 employees of Nationwide News would be affected by the stoppage.

"Speakeasy Trade"

Dissolution of the race news service may have the greatest impact on the speakeasy trade since prohibition's repeal. But the full significance may not be known for some time.

Some bet barons predicted ruin. Others envisioned a sharp slump in trade, possibly as much as 50 per cent. The majority, heads buzzing but unbowed, cast about for new methods of obtaining vital information from the tracks.

A survey showed that among the projected plans were these:

1. Taking "time bets"—accepting wagers one day and paying off the next on the basis of accounts published in newspapers or racing news forms.

2. Using public telephone and telegraph lines and air mail.

3. Obtaining reports from a Cuban radio station, "catching" results broadcast by some domestic stations or establishing short wave wireless outfits in turk centers.

4. Assigning agents to posts in or near various tracks to relay information by wire, telephone or wireless to a betting room to an office serving as a central agency for a number of books.

Springfield Mock Warfare Conducted

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 15.—(P)—This city's artillery defenses kept up a stubborn resistance to a concerted enemy attack from the north tonight although batteries were forced to retreat from forward positions and "casualties" were reported heavy.

But, don't be unduly alarmed. The "warfare" is part of the Illinois National Guard training maneuvers, and not a shell was actually fired.

The defending troops in today's battle game were the 123d and 58th field artillery regiments. The attackers were theoretical forces conjured by officers for purposes of the tactical problem—that of defending southern Illinois communication facilities.

Brig. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton of Chicago, in charge of the 1,100 national guard troops, expressed satisfaction at the progress of the training exercises thus far.

YOUNG BROKER WINS SUIT TO WOO SOCIALITE

Private Hearing Is Prefaced By Brief "Skirmish"

New York, Nov. 15.—(P)—George Lowther, third, who went to the law courts to establish an unabridged right to court Ellen Herick, won his point today in a compromise that was at least amicable for the record.

After a brief private hearing in the chambers of State Supreme Court Justice Isidor Wasservogel, the young broker's habeas corpus suit against Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Herick, Ellen's socially eminent parents, was dismissed with this understanding:

1. That 20-year-old Ellen, who was declared by the experts to have been one of the most "glamorous" of all the debutantes two years ago, should remain for ten more days in the hospital where she has been resting.

2. That after that time George should be allowed to see her as often as he wishes and marry her, too, if it's all right with her.

This solution of a singular court action—which Lowther had brought in an effort to show that Miss Herick was being detained against her will in her parents' fashionable West side home to prevent his seeing her—was anticlimactic against the events that had preceded it.

Half-shove, half-blow

Chief among these was a half-shove, half-blow directed at the big, broad-shouldered young broker by Ellen's slight, gray-haired father.

This exchange occurred just as Miss Herick and her nurse appeared in the bleak marble corridor of the supreme

Claim Bonanza In Old Georgia Gold Diggings

Dahlonega, Ga., Nov. 15.—(P)—Gold ore assaying up to $50,000 a ton moved commercially from a 110-ton-year-old mine today a few hours after disclosure of a new bonanza vein comparing favorably in richness with the famed Comstock lode.

A small crew of men equipped with such modern tools as pneumatic drills and Diesel power dug yellow-streaked rocks from the old Calhoun mine strike which rewarded Major Graham Dugas for weeks of expensive exploratory work in the long inactive diggings.

While the only picturesque touch was provided by shotgun-armed guards—whose duties were not quite clear—Major Dugas, former state legislator and veteran prospector, allowed himself to become mildly hopeful that the two-inch thick, ten-inch wide strip of rich rock might carry on into the mountainside for hundreds of yards.

Worth Still Uncertain

Although Garland Peyton, cautious state geologist, unhesitatingly described the strike as being of "bonanza" caliber and said the ore rivaled in richness that of the great Comstock at Virginia City, Nev., only further operations can tell the real worth of the find.

If the drill-wielding mine laborers were in sharp contrast to the common idea of the picturesque '49er, this hill town's calm was even further from the traditional boom fever that has come so swiftly on the heels of past strikes.

The mountain man's natural reserve was an element in this lack of enthusiasm, but another factor was the full realization that the land all around here is in private hands and all the likely gold spots always have been tightly held.

Goldblatt Store Is Robbed In Chicago

Chicago, Nov. 15.—(P)—Three robbers pushed through crowds in a Goldblatt brothers department store at 4700 South Ashland avenue today, looted the main cash register of $6,500 and fled under the fire of a store detective.

Charles Regan, 45, the detective, said robbers began shooting first. While customers dived for cover, Regan returned the fire and wounded one of the gunmen as he reached an exit. His companions, however, caught him under the arms and bundled him into a dark-colored sedan in which they escaped.

Store officials estimated there were 300 customers and 60 employees on the first floor of the store when the robbers came in. Witnesses reported there were two other men waiting in the gunmen's car.

NO FERDINAND

Tamaqua, Pa., Nov. 15.—(P)—The bull that plunged in front of John Panicholson's automobile on the Tamaqua-Pottsville road today was no Ferdinand.

He snorted once, then charged. When he finally went back to pasture the highway was strewn with the wreckage of: one broken fender, one smashed headlamp, and sundry battered nuts and bolts.

Barkentine Bear Prepares To Trail Motorship To Antarctic

Rear Admiral Byrd's Expedition, Under Government Sponsorship, Gets Underway With Departure of North Star

Boston, Nov. 15.—(P)—The old Barkentine Bear, which once carried the law to the roaring camps of Alaska during the gold-rush days, prepared tonight for exploration of 1,000 miles of uncharted, gale-swept coastline in Antarctica, as a companion craft preceded her toward the polar seas.

Her partner in the venture, motorship North Star, sailed at dawn today as lead-off ship for the United States Antarctic service's projected exploratory and possible land-claiming venture to the bottom of the world.

Under command of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, the expedition is the government's first Antarctic venture in 100 years.

The North Star's sailing was as uneventful as some itinerant tramp steamer's departure, and she was well on her way tonight for Philadelphia, first stop in a southward journey that will take her through the Panama canal to New Zealand and Little America.

She carried 45 of the 62 men who will remain on the ice for the expedition, and on her broad decks and in her holds was jammed 75 per cent of the expedition's equipment, including a 27 ton snow cruiser.

Scheduled to sail next week to keep a New Year's rendezvous with the North Star in the Bay of Whales, the square-rigged Bear was ready to cruise out of harbor tomorrow to test her performance under a new Diesel engine that replaces her auxiliary steam power.

As the old Barkentine idled at her dock at dawn today, her partner on the expedition slipped quietly out of another dock several miles away.

The North Star, which has had a colorful career carrying medicine and supplies to government schools and hospitals in Alaska, might have been an unknown quantity.

Only a handful of newsmen, and wives of some of the adventures, were on hand as the big wooden ship headed down the channel.

The great whistle of the craft blasted a goodbye salute, and big-shouldered lanky men whined away in their crates of the after deck.

A frosty north wind played over the starboard quarter and made tank rigging twine like violin strings as the vessel, headed to her deck rails with crates, bags, and boxes, moved for open water.

GMAC FINANCE CASE GOES TO FEDERAL JURY

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 15.—(P)—A federal jury was charged tonight with the task of determining whether General Motors Corporation, biggest automobile manufacturer in the world, violated the Sherman anti-trust law.

Judge Walter C. Landley of Danville, Ill., placed the case of the parent corporation, three subsidiaries and 17 executives in the hands of the 12 jurors and tradersmen jurors at 6 p. m. (CST). He then adjourned court until 10 a. m. tomorrow and said he would receive no verdict before that.

The defendants were accused of conspiring to monopolize automobile installment sales financing by coercing dealers to assign the business to General Motors Acceptance Corporation.

Opposing Witnesses

Government prosecutors presented numerous dealers to substantiate the accusation. The defense called upon another long list of witnesses—headed by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., GM's board chairman, and William S. Knudsen, its president—to deny it.

The case, trial of which started Oct. 9, went to the jury after six and 17 hours of final arguments, crowded in to one day. Judge Landley used 45 minutes to instruct the jury.

Holmes Baldridge, special U. S. attorney in charge of the prosecution, told the jury:

"A verdict of guilty will free 15,000 General Motors dealers and will strike a blow for every small, independent merchant in the nation," he said.

The other side of the picture came from Ernest S. Ballard of Chicago and John Thomas Smith of New York, defense attorneys.

Ballard, terming the charge "preposterous," said the government produced only 47 of 50,000 General Motors dealers to testify as to the alleged conspiracy.

POTATO TRUCK CRASHES AT 100 MPH, 2 KILLED

St. George, Utah, Nov. 15.—(P)—The speedometer registering 100 miles an hour, a huge truck loaded with tons of potatoes went out of control at a sharp curve today, smashed 150 feet through the air, then smashed into a ravine.

Don Duffy, 23, died instantly, but Eldon A. Law, 32, lived long enough to tell Sheriff A. B. Prince of the truck's speed down the steep grade.

U. OF I. DORMITORY

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 15.—(P)—The University of Illinois administration tonight announced plans for construction of a $700,000 men's dormitory to house 300 students.

The building, the first men's dormitory unit to be built by the university, will be completed by September, 1941, officials said. It will be financed by a self-liquidating loan arranged through the University of Illinois Foundation, an alumni organization.

The Crater Mystery Continues

New York, Nov. 15.—(P)—The nine-year search for a clue to the fantastic disappearance of State Supreme Court Justice Joseph Force Crater pointed today to one of seven trunks held in a hospital for a demented ex-showgirl.

The law ruled that the seventh trunk could not be opened.

It thus became a "mystery trunk," although it may contain only odds and ends from the past which haunts the clouded mind of the girl. Crater is supposed to have visited her in her Manhattan apartment that night in 1930 when he vanished.

Counsel for Mrs. Stella Crater, Justice's remarried widow who seeks $50,000 double insurance indemnity, said he believed the unopened trunk might contain a diary. If so, the book might, he thought, throw light on Crater's last hours of life in the hot glare of Broadway's night spots, which the justice frequented.

Six of the seven trunks have been opened by hospital authorities—and apparently they found nothing worth reporting to police. The key to the seventh has not been found.

Supreme Court Justice William T. Collins emphatically rejected as "fishing expedition" the notion of Emil K. Ellis, the widow's attorney, for permission to examine the contents of all seven trunks.

CEREMONY FOR NEW JEFFERSON SHRINE IS HELD

Third Term Problem Is Again Raised By Remark

Washington, Nov. 15.—(P)—President Roosevelt started another flurry of speculation about the third term question today by an off-hand remark with which he prefaced an address at the laying of the cornerstone of the Thomas Jefferson memorial.

"This is the second occasion on which I have had the privilege of coming in an official capacity to this site," he said "and I hope by January, 1941, I shall be able to come to the final dedication of the memorial itself."

Mr. Roosevelt's present term expires on the 20th of the month he mentioned and the dedication is scheduled for that month.

Whether his statement was a reiteration of the hope previously expressed, that he may retire from public life on that date, was the question that it raised.

If the statement was applicable to the third term question—and men in Mr. Roosevelt's position do not lightly make assertions which contain political connotations—it may have meant that the president does not expect to run again.

Still Unanswered

But, at least, it was far from definite and left the third term question still unanswered. However, the question has such a tremendous bearing upon the current political situation, that any dim light which may be cast upon it is considered of high importance in Washington.

Russian Press Levels Attack Against Finns

Moscow, Nov. 15.—(P)—The Soviet Russian press leveled its sharpest attack on Finland today with a bitter reminder of the verbal barrage directed at Poland just before the Red army marched into that country.

The attack, in which Finnish ruling circles were accused of fostering an "anti-Soviet policy," was included in a Tass, official news agency, dispatch from Helsinki, Finland's capital.

"Campaign of Lies"

The news agency accused the Finnish army and press of instructing Finns to "hate Russians" and charged that "the leaders of the anti-Soviet campaign of lies are the most reactionary elements who are dreaming of spreading the boundaries of Finland all the way to (Russia's) Urals."

Russian territorial and military demands on Finland were not "impossible," the news agency continued.

Coinciding with the attack, the Soviet newspaper, True Friend of Russia, published a letter from a veteran Soviet legislator-scientist berating the United States for her "anxiety concerning Finland."

The Finnish delegation which broke off the Moscow negotiations arrived in Helsinki. There were indications the Finns considered the Kremlin talks ended unless the Russians came forward with new proposals.

More Gas Mileage
Is Object Of Tests

Chicago, Nov. 15.—(P)—An automobile scientist asserted tonight that experiments foreshadowed developments which would give the motorist 50 per cent more mileage to a gallon of gasoline.

Dr. Graham Edgar of New York, vice president and research director of Ethyl Gasoline Corporation, told the Institute of Petroleum in a prepared address that the experiments had been carried out to determine the possibilities of increasing compression ratio under conditions in which the anti-knock value of the fuel was no longer the limiting factor.

The Institute of Petroleum, meeting at the annual convention of the American Petroleum Institute, is made up of technologists.

Dr. Edgar said also that supercharging, generally applied so far only to aircraft, opened another field of opportunity for the utilization of fuels of high anti-knock value by the automobile engine.

Physicians warned that childhood tuberculosis is invariably contracted from infected adults in the home and at school.

FRANKLIN SNYDER Northwestern Receives its 11th President

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 15.—(P)—Dr. Franklin B. Snyder in his inaugural address as the 11th president of Northwestern University, pledged today that the tradition of liberty already established at Northwestern "must—and will—be maintained in the future."

An audience of 1,500 trustees, faculty members, students and alumni heard the newly installed president say of their university:

"I know of no campus on which this essential of intellectual distinction is more certainly a fact than on our own. But I know too, that in a world on the verge of hysteria there are forces at work outside the university which threaten this freedom."

Dr. Snyder said it behooved educators in this democracy to be alert to loss of intellectual liberty.

Dr. Snyder, who has been on Northwestern's English faculty since 1909, was inducted into the presidency by Kenneth F. Burgess, president of the board of trustees. Dr. Walter Dill Scott, president emeritus, conferred an honorary degree of doctor of humane letters upon Dr. Snyder.

A native of Middleton, Conn., Dr. Snyder is 45 years old.

POLICE STUDY NEW THEORY IN O'HARE SLAYING

Assumes Race King Was A Friend Of Al Capone

Chicago, Nov. 15.—(P)—A new theory of the week-old slaying of Edward J. O'Hare—one which assumed him to have been a friend of Al Capone instead of an enemy—arose tonight to confront investigators.

It found its way to the newspapers via the underground grapevine, and it pointed the finger of suspicion at the "highups" in the syndicate which Capone controlled until he went to jail for evading income taxes.

The theory was that O'Hare, the money-making president of Sportsman's Park race track, was one of the few members of the syndicate who kept faith with "the big fellow" when he was behind the bars.

It credited him with sending Capone regular remittances while the other boys were sending occasional postcards marked, "wish you were here."

And it concluded that there were men who had reason to be afraid of what O'Hare might have to tell Capone after his release from prison this month.

Theory Not Ignored

The latest theory in "the case with a thousand angles" was received silently in official quarters, but two circumstances indicated it was not being ignored.

In the first place, Capt. Daniel Gilbert of the state's attorney's office said his men had reported that all of the city's leading hoodlums were conveniently out of town when O'Hare was assassinated.

This, he pointed out, was the usual alibi arrangements in cases where killings are ordered by "big timers."

The second circumstance was that state's attorney's examiners began an audit of the Sportsman's park books to determine if the final $20,000 payment on Capone's fine and court costs turned over recently to the federal government, came out of the profits of the fall race meeting.

This did not jibe with an earlier police theory that O'Hare might have been slain because he did not come through with his share of the assessment supposedly levied to meet the fine.

German Industrial
Leader In Lucerne

Lucerne, Switzerland, Nov. 15.—(P)—Fritz Thyssen, German steel magnate of the Ruhr and one of the chief backers of Nazism during the rise of Adolf Hitler, was located today at the Leeman hotel where he arrived from Germany three days ago.

"I infinitely regret I am unable to give the information you request," Thyssen telegraphed in answer to a request for information as to reasons for his departure from Germany.

It was pointed out his lips were sealed on things political by the laws of neutral Switzerland which require all foreign residents to remain silent on politics.

Thyssen said only that he planned an "indefinite stay" at this Swiss lake resort within sight of the Italian border. He was accompanied here by his wife and one child.

An outstanding industrialist by inheritance, Thyssen is reputed to be one of the world's richest men.

DOCTOR'S FATE UNDETERMINED AFTER 6 HOURS

To Discharge Jury If Decision Not Gained By This Morning

Benton, Ill., Nov. 15.—(P)—A circuit court jury trying Dr. George W. Gore, Sr., on murder charges in the shooting Sept. 25 of Carl Cholsner, Benton publisher and attorney, failed to reach a verdict tonight during the first six hours of deliberation.

Under instructions from Judge Blaine Huffman, any verdict agreed upon after 11 P. M., will not be returned in open court until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Should the jury be unable to return one of the seven verdicts outlined by Judge Huffman by 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, the jurors will be discharged, the court said.

Among the hundreds of spectators who awaited the verdict in the Franklin county courthouse tonight were Steve Cholsner, brother of the slain man, and George W. Gore, Jr., the defendant's son, who was acquitted in the same courtroom last month of slaying his step-mother.

Emotional Insanity

During the 3-day trial, the state demanded the death penalty and the defense pleaded "emotional insanity."

Circuit Judge Blaine Huffman told the jury of 10 men and two women qualified for the death penalty—it could acquit Gore; find him guilty of murder and impose sentence of death, life imprisonment or a prison term of not less than 14 years; find him guilty of manslaughter which carries a prison penalty of 1 to 14 years; find the elderly physician was insane at the time of the shooting and still insane; or find him insane on Sept. 25 but now sane.

Should the jury find Gore was insane during the shooting but had not regained his sanity, Judge Huffman instructed the jurors they must free him. If the jury found Gore insane at the time of the shooting and still in that condition, said the Judge, the defendant must be turned over to the court which would have him taken in charge by the department of public welfare.

Retains Calmness

Dr. Gore retained the calmness, which has characterized him during the trial, as the jury filed out at 4:52 P. M.

He wiped tears from his eyes once during the closing arguments but did not break down.

Dr. Gore testified he heard his dead wife, Nancy, scream, saw Cholsner started toward him "with a gun" but remembered nothing else on the Sept. 25 day Cholsner was fatally wounded.

Mrs. Nancy Gore, second wife of the physician and at one time his secretary, was slain mysteriously on the sleeping porch of the Gore home here at dawn Sunday, July 23. The first Mrs. Gore died several years ago.

Cholsner was to have been attorney for George W. Gore, Jr., in his trial on a charge of murder in the slaying of his stepmother. Young Gore was acquitted, Oct. 19.

Opening the final arguments, Marlon Hart, assistant prosecutor, attacked the insanity

Children Like To Read

Librarians, teachers and community leaders have joined efforts this week to celebrate the twenty-first annual Children's Book Week, Nov. 12 to 18. This year's theme, "Books Around the World," is being emphasized in libraries and schools throughout the country. Window displays, talks, assembly programs, and pageants, all serve to join books with their youthful readers.

"I want some books," said a new library patron, "with lots of pictures—about airplanes—and boats—and what do you feed an Irish setter?"

This is typical of the thousands of questions asked and answered daily in children's departments of school and public libraries.

Librarians today are encouraging children's reading, and the boys and girls are meeting the program more than halfway. Through the story hour, children's corners, attractive pictures and exhibits, more children patronize libraries than ever before. Librarians and teachers are agreed that through promotion of good reading they are furthering the development of ideals in future citizens.

MONTGOMERY WARD

Still, in Some Ways It's Very Familiar

Neutrality Gets Foggier

America's difficulties in remaining neutral are only beginning. Advocates of the revised neutrality legislation are beginning to realize that, no matter what kind of a law is in effect, the United States will still have its troubles. Neutrality can't merely be written down and stowed away among the archives.

Only a few days after the president signed the amended neutrality act, the Maritime Commission was asked to sanction changes of registry for nine American vessels the owners of which want their vessels to fly the flag of Panama. Under this arrangement, the ships would be permitted to carry munitions to belligerents without encountering the restrictions of the new law.

This will not be the last time federal officials will encounter fine points of interpretation concerning neutrality. There should be no let-up in efforts to preserve true neutrality just because Congress has passed a law and adjourned.

SMALL TALK

Good bordig. We thought we might get through the current season of sniffls without succumbing to tradition, but such a precedent, once established is evidently too deeply rooted to ignore. Hence, good bordig, which is the way we would have to say it were a photograph record instead of whatever it is. All of which means that our pockets are bulging with handkerchiefs, which doesn't make us any different from nine out of any other ten persons in Jacksonville. Oh well, it might be pneumo—pneuma—pnoo—oh well, it might be worse, so we really aren't kicking.

—O—
The handkerchiefs, of course, keep the family clothes line pretty well inhabited.... which reminds us that we have on file a very nice poem from the Waverly Observer about clothes-lines. Here it is:

To A Clothes Line
Oh clothes-line, stretched from tree to tree.

You can a story tell—
Of bridal linen hung on thee
Where brightest sunbeams fell.

Then when, one bright October day,
The dreaded sad news came,
And those we loved were called away
And life was not the same,

A pillow, wet with tears, did hang
To dry beneath that tree;
Then joyous bells so loudly rang
And he came back to me.

And as the days passed swiftly by—
Each filled with hope and cheer,

Some tiny garments hung to dry Upon that line so near.

As time went on, and laddie grew
And played beneath that tree,
You held his waists of white and blue,
And trousers, one, two, three.

As in the breeze his shirts you wave
And we so anxious sigh,
We pray Thee, Lord, our sons to save,
And may no war come nigh.

Oh, then we all shall happy be,
And life will still be gay;
Oh clothes-line, stretched from tree to tree,
These thoughts are mine today.

—The Waverly Observer....

—O—

Thanks a lot. Come again.
Fine violinists are few and far between.
You can sing fairly well and get away with it. You can play the piano fairly well and get by with it. But if you play the violin only fairly well, it sounds horrible. Delwin Shaw, associate professor of violin at MacMurray, is a real artist. His concert last night was a truly outstanding event in the local musical season. Mr. Shaw plays with the ease, grace, and certainty of a fine musician. We repeat—fine violinists are few and far between. Jacksonville is fortunate in having Mr. Shaw, a truly fine violinist in its midst.

—O—
Thank goodness the snow cruiser arrived in Boston in time to go on the Byrd trip. We had been quite worried about the whole business. One hates to see a widely-publicized "coming event" flop and make a laughing stock of itself when it "events." Maybe it didn't do so well on our twentieth-century highways. But we know a lot of women who can't drive on a twentieth-century highway who might do O. K. in the Antarctic wastes.

—O—
Hi ho. Another day, another day—get it? All right, you can have it. Sniffle, sneeze, blow. A-a-a-schzzz-cxxxxw-w-w!!! See you to-morrow.

Dr. Pontius Speaks At College Service

Addresses MacMurray Pupils Wednesday Morning At Regular Service

The regular MacMurray College chapel service was held Wednesday at ten o'clock at the Century church with Dr. M. L. Pontius as the speaker. The service opened with an organ prelude "Priere" by Borowski played by Miss Ruth S. Melville. An anthem "Lo, A Voice to Heaven Sounding" by Bortniansky was given by the college choir.

Dr. Pontius chose as his topic "Concerning the Ancient Jews" bringing out the fact that the founders of the Christian religion were Jews. He gave a resume of the history of the Jews particularly during the sixth century B. C. which was the greatest century in their history. It was during that time that the old prophets appeared in Palestine saying that God was no longer interested in their rituals and burnt offerings but He was interested in their conduct. With the coming of Alexander of Macedonia the influence of the Hellenized process fell on the Jews; and since the coming of Titus in 70 A. D. the Jew has been a man without a country. With this background Dr. Pontius concluded his address with a statement stressing the close relationship of the ancient Jewish religion with the Christian religion.

GIRL BREAKS LONG STRING OF BOYS

Passavant Hospital Sees 9 Boys Born Before Girl Arrives Yesterday

"It's a girl!" was the calm announcement Wednesday morning at Passavant hospital, and the attending nurses took the announcement in stride. But nevertheless, front office statistics looked up from the work of recording thirteen births in the last ten days slightly questioning.

The reason for the questioning look was that the last nine births they had recorded were boys. A little lady came along Wednesday morning to keep the boys company. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Haines, 872 Grove street.

The record at the hospital for the last ten days has been eleven boys and two girls, the second born Wednesday morning. Peggy Jean Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Robinson, 1041 Sheridan street, arrived after Charles Frederick Meyers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Meyers of Route 1, Jacksonville, and David Houston Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Peterson of Litterberry, put in appearances Nov. 5.

Then came Ronald Ralph Tipps, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Tipps of Palmyra, who died the following day. Don Ebrey Barrows, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barrows of Route 5; Dan Edward Bahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bahan, 440 South Sandy; and sons to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kitterman of Chapin and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stone of 408 East Superior; Mr. and Mrs. Orville Miller, 1825 South Main street; Harry Eugene Colvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Colvin of Winchester; Mr. and Mrs. DeOrnellas of Route 6, Jacksonville; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Berline, 603 West Beecher complete the list.

Balkan Nations Would Strengthen Neutrality

THE "powder keg of Europe" is well guarded these days with diplomats scurrying from capital to capital in the Balkans, striving to establish a firm alliance to keep Germany and Russia from setting off an explosion. Romania, Greece, Yugoslavia and Turkey are already united in the Balkan Entente, commemorated by the 1937 Yugoslav 3-dinar stamp, above, showing arms of the four countries.

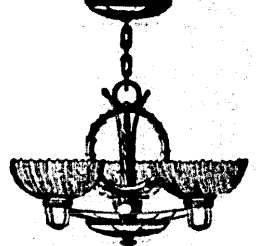

Closer relations with Italy and Hungary are encouraged to help preserve neutral status and full independence of the little nations.

Stamp sales through the Philatelic Agency at Washington, D. C. totaled $47,511.27 for October.

First-day sales of the new U. S. 3-cent stamp, commemorating the 50th anniversary of admission to the Union of four states, totaled 273,871 stamps and 139,905 covers canceled at Pierre, S. D., and 266,550 stamps and 142,106 covers canceled at Bismarck, N. D. The stamps were released on Nov. 2.

Pork Prices Slump;
Live Trade Steady

Chicago, Nov. 15.—(AP)—The whole-sale dressed pork market slumped again today to the lowest marks in almost a year but failed to carry live prices downward.

In the dressed market, the best pork loins fell another half cent to a top of 13 cents a pound, the lowest since last December, when the top averaged 13 1/2 for two days.

Light hogs were active and steady to 5 cents higher, with other grades steady to weak. The top was $6.33, the same as yesterday's best price. Receipts in the open market were 12,020 head, 1,000 less than expected. Big packers received another 4,500 in direct shipments.

Trade on fed steers and yearlings was fairly active and generally steady to strong, with light weights getting the best action. These grades and weighty bullocks topped at $10.75. Fat cows were slow and steady. Bulls and weaners held steady. Salable receipts were 9,000 head, equal to expectations.

Fat lambs were fairly active and steady to 15 cents higher at $9.40 down. Sheep were about steady.

New York Stock Market

New York, Nov. 15.—(AP)—The stock market ran a mild gamut of ups and downs today as traders generally remained in a neutral corner.

Near the close prices were mixed, with most of the pivotal shares slightly under water. Transactions totaled about 650,000 shares.

The whole day was lackadaisical, although quotations of some of the leaders gained as much as a point in a selective early upturn.

The rise inspired little buying. Some stocks were untouched for an hour or more at a time. Later many of the gains were cancelled under profit selling.

The consensus of various commentators was that the market seemed to have "no place to go but up," pending foreign or domestic news developments.

In the meantime, the market was strictly a traders' affair, with professional elements endeavoring to squeeze out fractional profits here and there despite the absence of definite trends.

The stand-still war in Europe and the end of the "political truce" at home were viewed equally disparagingly by Wall Streeters who, admittedly, were waiting for something to happen, somewhere, to give prices a shove.

Bonds were uneventful. Wheat at Chicago was 1 to 1 1/2 cent a bushel lower; corn was 1 to 1 1/2 cent a bushel down. Cotton was 30 to 55 cents a bale lower. Foreign markets were quiet and firm.

The president spoke beneath a cloudless November sky, his speaker's platform framed in derrick and guy wires. A few hundred persons were present, standing below the president on a rough wooden platform or upon the muddy bank of the nearby tidal basin.

The memorial is to complete an architectural cross, of which the Lincoln Memorial, the White House and the Capitol are the three other ends and the Washington monument the center.

The president had words of praise, consequently for Washington and Lincoln as "many sided" men who left a deep imprint upon the nation, as well as for Jefferson. The latter he lauded for his interest in education, as the inventor of "numerous small devices to make human life simpler and happier" and as an experimenter in scientific methods of agriculture.

Political Philosophy

"But he added, 'it was in the field of political philosophy that Jefferson's significance is transcendent. He lived as we live in the midst of a struggle between rule by the self-chosen individual or the self-appointed few, and rule by the franchise and approval of the many. He believed as we do that the average opinion of mankind is in the long run superior to the dictates of the self-chosen.'"

"During all the years that have followed Thomas Jefferson, the United States has expanded his philosophy into a greater achievement of security of the nation, security of the individual and national unity, than in any other part of the world."

"It may be that the conflict between the two forms of philosophy will continue for centuries to come, but we in the United States are more than ever satisfied with the republican form of government based on regularly recurring opportunities to our citizens to choose their leaders for themselves."

—Then Papa Stymied Cupid

Everything looked okay-dokay for their romance when this picture of George Lowther 3d and popular New York post-deb Eileen Herick was taken at a swank night club. But her papa, ex-Park Commissioner Walter R. Herick, said "No!" emphatically. Then, "Romeo" Lowther charges, papa kept Eileen "virtually a prisoner."

'No Work--No Kiss' Campaign Fails

Campaign to enlist pickets' wives in "No Work--No Kiss" attack on U. A. W.-C. I. O. strikers in Detroit didn't work for Mrs. Clara Schindler. Instead of withholding love, 200 women members of union auxiliaries joined line in sympathy to strikers and carried signs like one reading, "Mrs. Schindler, 400,000 Workers Can't Be Wrong." Mrs. Schindler wound up on sickbed after Chrysler pickets seized her placards, sent her home.

Report Foxy Bob Is Doing Some Moaning Over Team's Chance

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 15.—(P)—Foxy Bob Zupke isn't talking much these days, and when he does he moans about Illinois' chances of victory Saturday against Ohio State, Big Ten leader and topheavy choice to win undisputed possession of the title.

Nobody is paying much attention to his moaning because that's characteristic of all grid teachers—but Zupke just isn't "in" when you begin talking in terms of upsetting Ohio State. An upset, in his book, is when a team given absolutely no chance to win does just that.

That was the situation when the Illini blasted Michigan from the ranks of the undefeated and untied two weeks ago. Up to that time the Illini had scored one touchdown while losing three games and tying one.

"I don't know anything about Ohio State," says Zupke. "Our boys are in terrible shape. Three of them, quarterback Ralph Ehl, guard Wes Martin and center Bill Lenich, haven't even dressed this week. We don't have enough good reserves."

Which is true, but Zupke failed to mention that four of his first stringers played the full 60 minutes in the last three games, two of which the Illini won.

While the odds were all against Illinois springing another upset this Saturday, Zupke tipped his hand somewhat by giving his squad some new plays Monday to use against the Bucks, indicating the underdogs would stand plenty of watching.

While outmanned in most other departments, the Illini have probably as good a punter as there is in the conference in Ehl, one of Illinois' iron men.

Coach Francis Schmidt has been giving his Bucks intensive passing and kicking drills the past two days to prepare for the invasion of the champion squad. Much time has been spent on spot kicking, implying Schmidt has wholesome respect for the opposing safety men.

The Bucks need only this game to tie for the title. And if they win and Minnesota defeats Iowa, the crown would be theirs alone.

Iowa is grooming an aerial attack for the Minnesota test Saturday. Nile Kinnick, ace back, has been in the role of receiver in practice with Ed McLain and Floyd Dean the tossers. Bob Peterson has been promoted to left halfback on the Wisconsin varsity. Purdue, the Badgers' foe this week, has lost Carl Verplank, senior guard, for the last two games because of injuries. The Bollermakers are stressing blocking in practice.

Indiana, which owns a neat passing attack, is concentrating on a more effective ground game in preparation for the game with Michigan State. Another team seeking improved blocking and more of it is Michigan, victim of Illinois and Minnesota. The Wolves seek a path back to the victory trail against Pennsylvania. Tom Harman missed practice with a stomach ailment. Lynn Walden, Northwestern's star, was out Saturday's defeat by Purdue he "never thought it possible for a team to gain 330 yards from scrimmage and block two kicks and not score." Nile Kinnick used to catch Bob Feller's fast ball when both played amateur baseball.

Chapin Tumbles Its First League Foe

Drop Hersman in Both Ends Of Cage Tilt to Get Away in Front

Chapin—Chapin high school got away in front in the basketball race of the P.M.B.C. conference here Tuesday night with a 64 to 14 victory in the varsity tilt and a 31 to 12 victory in the B league for second teams. The conference, formed recently, embraces corners of Morgan, Brown, Pike and Cass counties. Harold Burch, of Meredosia, is president, L. A. Prince of Chapin vice president, and V. A. Thomas, Versailles, secretary and treasurer.

Teams will compete for trophies in both the varsity and second team conferences, and the teams will meet in Meredosia for a basketball tournament, Jan. 24-27. Both divisions will play in the tournament, for which J. M. Hollowell of Jacksonville and M. Beadles, Littleton have been selected as officials.

Neither Chapin team had trouble in leaping over Hersman in the opening conference game. The box score of the varsity tilt:

Football Coaches Thru Midwest Take Time to Criticize

Say That Perhaps It's All In Fun, But Some of It Sounds Pretty Harsh

Chicago, Nov. 15.—(P)—Perhaps it's all done in the spirit of good clean fun—but the way in which several midwest coaches are winding up and swinging at each other and the officials is adding a lot of old-fashioned punch to this already zesty college football season.

Harry Stuhldreher, Wisconsin's chief gridiron mentor, was the latest to let go with a verbal "roundhouse"—directed at Illinois, which last Saturday whipped Wisconsin, 7 to 0. Harry—possibly with tongue in cheek—accused Illinois fans of poor sportsmanship by ruckus yelling whenever the Badgers began calling signals.

In addition, Stuhldreher let it be known that Wisconsin's movies of the game showed that Jimmy Smith stepped out-of-bounds during his 82-yard touchdown jaunt. All of this, of course, called for comment from Coach Bob Zupke, to wit:

"I'm surprised, Harry knows better. Fans go to football games to shout themselves hoarse and wouldn't it be bad to play a game before a crowd of Egyptian mummies?"

"As to whether Smith ran out of bounds, movies will never settle it. I've always opposed movies. They start too many arguments and prove too little. Anyway, our movies indicate he didn't step out of bounds."

Mal Elward of Purdue recently let go a double-barreled blast charging that the official who ruled on the field goal by which Notre Dame beat Purdue, 3 to 0, was not in position to judge the kick accurately.

Some persons view these proceedings as very healthy signs. What football in some sections needs now, they contend, are a few honest-to-goodness grudge battles and a little Monday-morning brick-slinging instead of the worn comment of the "you had the best team and mine was terrible" variety.

WILDCATS HOPE FOR GREAT IRISH SQUAD

Evansville, Ill., Nov. 15.—(P)—The current autumn campaign has been little more than a succession of dreary week-ends for sad-eyed Lynn Waldorf and his Northwestern football team—an outfit rated one of the nation's potential powerhouses back in September.

But there's little wrong with the Wildcats that a victory over Notre Dame Saturday wouldn't cure. The game stacks up as a top-flight attraction although no titles, sectional or national, depend on the outcome.

Each will be trying to bounce back from an upset defeat of a week ago. The Irish were smacked down by Iowa 7-6, after winning six games in a row and Northwestern, which apparently was under way after a slow start, bogged down against Purdue.

The Wildcats have won only one of the six games with Notre Dame since 1933, but the contests always have been bitterly and viciously fought. This year was the second time in five seasons that neither team approached the battle undefeated. Last year Notre Dame survived the test and won seven other games before bowing to Southern California.

PUBLISH SCHEDULE

Pittsburgh, Nov. 15.—(P)—A schedule of 19 basketball games announced for Carnegie Tech includes one new foe, Bradley Tech, which will be met at Peoria, Ill.

345 OUT OF 360

Evansville, Ill., Nov. 15.—(P)—Speaking of iron men.

There's John Haman, Northwestern's sturdy center and bulwark of the Wildcats' defense. Haman has played 345 minutes out of a possible 360 this year in Northwestern's six games.

Haman was all-conference a year ago and is in a fair way to receive that honor again.

Terrific Blast Rips Jerseyville Shop

Caused Naphtha In Barrel to Explode

Jerseyville—Alvin Embley, Jerseyville tinner, and his son, George Embley, escaped injuries of consequence during an explosion which damaged the Embley tinshop and work place on Maple avenue Monday morning.

Embley and his son were soldering a faucet into a metal oil barrel, for Lynn Miller of Jerseyville. This particular barrel, according to Alvin Embley, must have contained naphtha. A blow torch was being used by the Embleys in the soldering process and a terrific explosion that rocked the entire neighborhood ensued. One head was blown out of the barrel and through some of the stock.

Window sashes were blown out and fifteen panes of glass, twelve small size 9 by 12 and three large ones were shattered into fragments. A portion of the roof of the workshop was blown loose and slides of the place were also damaged.

Tuberculin Tests Given 236 Students

Will Wait 48 Hours to Find Results; Physicians Explain Tests

Two hundred and thirty-six persons at the local high school received the tuberculin tests given annually by the Morgan County Tuberculosis Association Wednesday morning. The number included members of the high school senior class, high school teachers, and also the faculty of the David Prince school. Other grade school teachers in the city received the tests in the afternoon.

The test consists of an inoculation of a chemical fluid into the arm of the person. If, after a period of at least forty-eight hours, the place of the injection has not swollen to any great extent, the result of the test is declared negative, meaning that the tuberculosis germs are not active in the body at present.

In some cases, however, the test may show a positive result. When this occurs, a chest x-ray is given free of charge to determine the extent of the disease in the body.

A positive result does not necessarily mean that the person is tubercular. Dr. F. G. Norbury said, in explaining the procedure to the senior class.

"It merely means that at some time or other the germs have entered the body and have gained a slight foothold, but probably have been thrown off by the body. This happens in many cases," the doctor stated.

The tests were given under the supervision of Dr. Friedrich Engelbach, local physician. Dr. Engelbach was assisted by Lucille Snyder, school nurse, Miss Jayne, and Mrs. Montrose.

Seventy Alumni Of Brown's at First
Banquet Tuesday

Twelve Classes Represented At Gathering Program Of Music, Speaking

Seventy graduates of Brown's Business college, Jacksonville, were in attendance Tuesday evening at the Dunlap hotel for the first Brown's alumni banquet.

Graduates from twelve classes were in attendance. Representatives from the classes of 1927, 1928, 1929, 1930, 1931, 1932, 1933, 1934, 1935, 1936, 1937, 1938, and 1939 were present. The honor for having the largest class representation went to the class of 1938, who had twenty of their class members at the banquet. Special recognition was given to Mrs. Sarah Scott Paquin, who graduated from Brown's with the class of 1935.

Principal D. L. Hardin presided at the alumni banquet and introduced each graduate present and indicated the business with which the graduate was employed.

A musical program was given in keeping with the class flower, the American Beauty rose, of the class of 1939. Members of the class of 1939 who gave the musical program were Donald Littler, who sang "Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses" and "Roses of Picardy"; Lillian Lindsay sang "The Rose Room," and Mary Shute and Ella Parks closed the program by singing "Moonlight and Roses." Mrs. D. L. Hardin accompanied the singers at the piano.

Dr. Pontius Speaks
The main address of the evening was given by Dr. M. L. Pontius, pastor of the Central Christian church. Dr. Pontius took as his topic "The Ideal Secretary."

Dr. Pontius told the alumni that a good secretary should possess the following qualifications: (1) punctuality, (2) accuracy, (3) alertness, (4) courtesy, (5) carefulness, (6) gratitude. He illustrated each point with an actual business experience.

Following Dr. Pontius' talk on "The Ideal Secretary," Principal D. L. Hardin introduced to the alumni Miss Rosetta Wagner, who was chosen the ideal secretary at the international convention of the Alpha Iota sorority held in Wilmington, Delaware, last summer.

The next speaker on the program was Mrs. R. W. Gillham, director of the secretarial department of Brown's Business college. Mrs. Gillham has been connected with Brown's Business college since 1921 when she enrolled as a student, later becoming the office secretary and then being promoted to typewriting teacher and later to director of the secretarial department. Mrs. Gillham talked on "The Progress of Brown's During the Past Eighteen Years." She indicated that many changes had taken place, both in the faculty and in the courses of study. She also brought out that eighteen years ago the business student devoted all of his time to his studies. There were no outside extra curricular activities. She indicated that since Mr. Hardin became principal of the school social activities have been held regularly several times each year, athletics have been added to the program and that the school had become affiliated with the National Alpha Iota sorority, that the students now publish each month a school paper, The Brownite, and that this year, under the direction of Mrs. Hardin, a school glee club had been organized.

Mrs. Gillham brought out the fact that in recent years new subjects, including Advertising, Machine Bookkeeping, Office Practice, Dictaphone Operation of Telephone, had all been added to the courses of Brown's Business College in order to give the students the best available training to prepare them for successful business positions.

Mr. Hardin next introduced Miss Velma Edwards, member of the class of 1938, who is now the secretary at Brown's Business College, who read communications from out of town alumni.

Frank Wiesenhauer, who was added to the Brown's faculty in May, 1939, as Bookkeeping Instructor, was next called upon to give his impressions of Brown's since joining the B.B.C. family.

Tells of Sorority
Miss Ethel Stewart was then introduced to give the Alumni Association some information concerning the Alpha Iota Sorority. Miss Stewart has been president of the local sorority, president of the Illinois State Association, regional councilor and was recently chosen as chairman of the committee to arrange for the interna-

Flames of Jealousy?

Jealousy flaming between two brothers was responsible for the gas explosion which wrecked Woodside, L. I., home of William Henahan, according to New York police. The house, pictured in flames, was shared by Henahan and his son Thomas. The father invited another son, Edward, and his bride to move in. Son Thomas objected, and police, who held him on arson charge, say he admitted contriving the blast in resentment.

SERIAL STORY

5 WOULD KILL

BY TOM HORNER

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER I

"I will be killed tonight!
"My luck has run out. I have been warned. That anonymous telephone call. The black cat that ran across the driveway tonight. Third light on a match.
"I've had special police posted all around the house but they can't save me. But before I die—

"There are five persons who would rather see me dead than alive. My wife, Helen Ben-thorne; William Alston, my father-in-law and former partner; Joey di Torio, the gangster;
a woman named Ara and an old prospector, known as 'Big Red.'
"I hate all of them and I know they hate me. I leave this list that the police may know one of these five would kill me—"

ARNOLD BENTHORNE smiled
—a bitter, twisted smile—as he read the words he had just written.

They would pay—all of them—for hating Arnold Benthorne. In life he had ruled them all. In death he would still retain his power over them. They would suffer. Only Benthorne could have conceived such a vengeance.

Deliberately he folded the paper,
then rising quickly from his chair, he hurried across the study, pulled a bookcase away from the wall and knelt beside a small safe. He twisted the knob and in a moment the door swung open. Light from the desk lamp glistened on the metal.

Driver put in. "There used to be a minister lived around here someplace. These kids—"

"These idiots!" Officer Flynn reported. "Here, let's have a look at you." His flashlight sent a beam through the darkness to show the laughing face of a youth peering out the cab door. Raindrops decked the young man's red hair.

"You're an honest face," Officer Flynn conceded grudgingly. "And that wild look in your eyes explains why you'd be getting yourself married on a night like this.
But where's the girl that'd be marrying the likes of you?" His flashlight swept the interior of the cab.

Huddled in the corner was the girl. She was small, dark of hair, dark of complexion. It was her eyes that Officer Flynn remembered best, later in the night.
"Smoky, they were, sir," he reported, "just like little live coals with a wisp of smoke coming from them."

"Can't you wait to be married in the morning, like decent folks?"
Flynn growled at her, but his tone belied his anger.

"It's his idea, not mine!" the girl answered from her corner.

Flynn turned back to the young man. "It's a surly wife you're picking, if I may say so, lad. But then my own is no angel. Now what are your names?"

"Do you have to know that, officer?" the youth asked. "After all, we've committed no crime, just asking your help in finding a minister."

"Anyone that stops in front of Arnold Benthorne's house tonight has to give his name. Captain's orders. Come on, now tell me who you are."

In a moment the door opened,

Illustrations by Ed Gunder.

"YOU!" Benthorne gasped. . . . A revolver shone in the light. The round black hole held Benthorne's hypnotized gaze.

spade. Benthorne admitted he liked the Parker paper better than the Smith sheet. That gang over at Parker's had courage.
That's what it takes. That's what it took to make Arnold Benthorne.

He saw a lad of 10, thin, clothed in castoffs, crying in a doorway.
He saw an older boy, heavier, stronger, taunting the weeping lad.

Funny that he should remember light the girl was even prettier.
She pulled her slicker closer about her, turned her face to the darkness. "Now your name, son."

"John Douglas," came the voice behind him.

"And yours," Flynn nodded toward the girl. Her answer was softly spoken, so softly Flynn hardly heard.

"Ara Johnson."

"And let's see your license," to the cab driver. The driver fumbled in his pocket for a moment, finally withdrew a greasy card.

"N-i-c-k-S-m-i-t-h," Flynn spelled out slowly. "Well, looks all right.
Now you get going, you'll find a minister on 21st and— Say! Where did that young fellow go?"

The cab's motor roared. Swiftly the girl reached across the seat, gave Flynn a shove and slammed the door. Before the patrolman could recover his balance and struggle to draw his revolver the cab had disappeared in the darkness. John Douglas was nowhere in sight.

Flynn's whistle shrilled through the night.

"HEY, you, where do you think you're going?" The policeman, gun in hand, darted from the shadows of the garage, hurried to the figure that had just come up the walk.

"I beg your pardon," a soft voice answered. "I am William Alston. I've come to see my daughter, Mrs. Benthorne. She called for me. I am sure she's expecting me. May I ring?"

"Captain's orders were to admit no one, sir," the policeman's tone was deferential. "Go ahead, ring the bell, and we'll see."

In a moment the door opened,

marry a man almost as old as her father. Only one reporter—and Benthorne recalled grimly that he had soon lost his job—had hit the real reason. He had hinted that Benthorne had threatened to wreck Alston Motors and that old man Alston thought more of his trucks than of his daughter.

There was one mystery about Benthorne that no newspaperman knew. The garage doors, the parking notes of a police whistle split the night. The policeman ran toward the front of the house.

Suddenly he stopped short, as a shot echoed above the rumbling thunder.

Then he ran on.

JOEY DI TORIO smoothed his coat over the automatic in his armpit holster, pulled his hat deeper over his face.

"Now, Benthorne," he said softly to himself, "comes the payoff."

He walked out the door, into the clamor and din of night club gaily. An orchestra blared from across the dance floor, and a throaty-voiced contralto mourned an unfaithful lover. Guests spoke to him as he walked between the tables. A waiter came up at his nod.

"Get Pete here," Joey ordered.
He turned to a noisy table.

"Lo Marge, 'lo Dave." A wave encompassed the others. "Getting off to a late start. Past midnight, Dave, and you're still on your feet."

"Been here almost two hours—only six drinks, and still can see—" Dave laughed. "What you doing, Joey, cutting your whiskey now?"

"Takes champagne to get you going, Dave." And as Pete touched his elbow, "Pete, champagne for Dave's crowd, on me." They all cheered and whooped after him as he walked away. "I'll be back soon, stick around and we'll have another round before closing."

They'd remember the champagne, and the time, too. Joey wanted them to remember the time. They'd forget about the floor show, if they could see it.

"I'll be back in an hour, Pete," he added in a lower tone. "It's after midnight now." Joey pulled his wrist in front of him, made sure Pete saw his watch. "Take over." He went out into the rain.

In his car a few minutes later,
he stopped under a street light,
set the hands of his watch back, exactly one hour.
